

Jenny Coletti

“Working with the Detterbeck family business has enriched my own life in many ways. I have become an individual who sees the whole picture when looking at situations and acts proactively in almost every life situation. I bring those skills to work every day, which benefits co-workers and our clients alike.”

Jenny is a lifelong Illinois resident, a mother of three children, and recently became a part-time Wisconsin resident. She enjoys the summertime on her boat with her family in Wisconsin and the wintertime on the slopes in the region. A favorite past time of hers is gardening and landscape design.

Jenny is a team member who provides office support at the Palatine, Illinois location. Her primary duties include assisting with the quarterly reporting process and billing functions and fulfilling client requests along with many other administrative duties. She has been with Detterbeck affiliated companies since 1994 where she started with the accounting firm and moved over to the wealth management business several years later.
